Accessibility Violations by WCAG Criteria

Image lacks a required 'alt' attribute (Level A)

Checks that each image has an alt attribute with a sufficiently clear and concise description to convey the meaning of the image to visually impaired users relying on screen readers and other assistive technologies.

Frame lacks a populated 'title' attribute (Level A)

Checks that all frames have populated title attributes. Users who rely on screen readers or other assistive technologies often use shortcut navigation methods to view a list of frames and their title attributes. A descriptive title attribute that identifies the frame's content or purpose helps these users.

Link lacks descriptive text (Level AAA)

Checks that each link contains descriptive text that clearly and meaningfully describes what will happen if the user selects it. Without descriptive text, a link can confuse users who rely on screen readers or other assistive technologies. If it is not possible to add link text, add an 'aria-label' attribute to describe the link instead. Or, if the link is necessary for the programming or functionality of the page but is not intended for user interaction, add an 'aria-hidden' attribute to hide it from screen readers.

Page should have a single <h1> element (Level AA)

Checks that the page has a single <h1> element. Structuring pages with a logical and predictable heading hierarchy allows users to easily find information and more efficiently navigate the page. Users relying on screen readers and other assistive technologies should be able to understand the page structure by quickly skimming the page. Each page should have a single <h1> element under which all subsequent headings (<h2>, <h3>, etc.) should semantically fit.

Form field lacks a <label> element (Level AA)

Checks that each form field has an associated <label> element or descriptive text. Without labeling or description, users who rely on screen readers or other assistive technologies cannot determine the input requested.

New tab or window opens without warning user (Level AAA)

Checks for new tabs or windows opening without warning user. New tabs or windows can be very disorienting for users, particularly those who rely on screen readers or other assistive technologies. Any link that opens a new tab or window should communicate this fact beforehand.

Vague or undetermined link purpose (Level A)

Checks for vague link text that does not provide clear information on where the link leads to. Users who rely on screen readers or other assistive technologies often skip forward or backtrack to locate links. They need link text to be substantive. Vacuous, meaningless link text like click here, click this, download, etc. tell users nothing about what the link points to.

Video begins playing automatically after page load (Level A)

Checks for automatically playing video. Any video that plays automatically upon page load causes a plethora of accessibility problems (in addition to annoying most non-disabled users). Any accompanying audio interferes with screen readers, making it difficult or impossible for blind users to find and stop playback. Users with mobility impairment must find and navigate to the video to stop playback. And users with cognitive impairment can become confused and unable to continue using the site.
