EDUCATION

University of West Florida

Cumberland School of Law

Rachel Adams is a dedicated attorney based in Pensacola, FL, with a passion for helping those who have been injured through no fault of their own. She focuses her practice on premises liability, personal injury, and slip and fall cases, providing compassionate and effective representation to her clients. As a proud Morgan & Morgan law firm member, Rachel is committed to fighting for justice and securing the best possible outcomes for those she represents.

Rachel's legal journey began at the University of West Florida, where she earned her undergraduate degree before attending Cumberland School of Law. During her time in law school, she was honored to be part of the American Journal of Trial Advocacy, which reflects her strong dedication to the legal field and her early passion for trial work. Her hard work and determination led to her admission to the Florida Bar, where she continues to build a reputation as a skilled and trusted attorney.

Outside of her legal practice, Rachel is deeply connected to the Pensacola community. She understands the importance of positively impacting the lives of those around her, both in and out of the courtroom. Rachel Adams is a tenacious advocate for her clients and a warm and approachable professional who genuinely cares about the well-being of the people she serves.
