University of Florida, J.D., with Honors, 2003

Angela Mirabole's professional journey is underscored by a strong academic foundation and a wealth of legal expertise. Born and raised in Tampa, Florida, she embarked on her educational path at H.B. Plant High School, graduating in 1995. Ms. Mirabole's academic prowess continued to flourish as she pursued her undergraduate studies at the University of Florida, where she earned a degree in Sociology with Honors in 1999. Her dedication to academic excellence was further recognized during her time at law school, also at the University of Florida, where she obtained her law degree with Honors in 2003. Notably, during her law school years, Ms. Mirabole's passion for Intellectual Property law led her to obtain a Certificate in Intellectual Property, showcasing her commitment to specialized legal fields. She also showcased her scholarly abilities by publishing an article in the prestigious UCLA Entertainment Law Review, further highlighting her expertise and contribution to legal scholarship.

Before joining Morgan & Morgan, Ms. Mirabole honed her legal skills as an associate at a law firm specializing in class action litigation on behalf of consumers. Her experience in handling complex legal matters and advocating for the rights of individuals uniquely positions her to contribute to the Mass Tort Department at Morgan & Morgan. Ms. Mirabole's admission to practice in the state courts and Middle District of Florida underscores her comprehensive understanding of Florida's legal landscape and her ability to navigate diverse legal challenges effectively. Her publication, "Written on the Body: Intellectual Property Rights in Tattoos, Make-up, and Other Body Art," reflects her expertise in Intellectual Property law and further solidifies her reputation as a knowledgeable and skilled legal professional. Based in Tampa, Florida, Ms. Mirabole continues to leverage her academic achievements and legal acumen to provide exceptional representation and uphold the rights of her clients in Mass Tort Litigation.
