EDUCATION

University of Florida, B.A., 1985;
J.D., 1989

Ronson Petree was born in Winter Park, Florida, and was raised in the Orlando area. His legal career has been devoted to representing injured workers since 1991. Although the majority of Mr. Petree's practice has been representing injured workers, he believes that his past experience as a workers' compensation defense attorney and certified mediator have given him an insight into how both the injured worker and the employer/carrier approach a dispute. He has extensive experience in all types of workers' compensation litigation on the trial and appellate levels throughout Central Florida.
