H. Allen Bernard brings extensive experience and specialized expertise to Morgan & Morgan's complex litigation division, particularly focusing on e-discovery. His career began with a strong emphasis on personal injury, criminal law, and family law during his time as a solo practitioner. Over time, he seamlessly transitioned into the intricate realm of complex litigation. A notable highlight was his role as Project Manager for an international e-discovery full-service platform, where he played a crucial part in the Opioid MDL litigation, showcasing his ability to handle high-stakes and multifaceted legal matters.

Education has been fundamental in Allen's professional journey, as he pursued his studies diligently. He earned his J.D. from the Mississippi College School of Law and an M.B.A. from Mississippi College, demonstrating his interdisciplinary approach to legal practice. His academic foundation began at the University of West Alabama, providing him with a diverse skill set that he effectively applies in his practice, especially in navigating mass tort litigation and offering strategic analysis in complex legal disputes. As a pivotal member of Morgan & Morgan's complex litigation team in Jacksonville, Florida, Allen continues to deliver exceptional legal counsel and advocacy to clients facing multifaceted legal challenges.
