Brent is a native of Orlando where he attended University High School. After high school, Brent continued his passion for competing in wrestling by attending Upper Iowa University, where he received an athletic scholarship. While wrestling at UIU, he was a part of the schools 2001 NCAA National Championship runner-up team, and its Academic All-America team. Upon completion of his B.A in Business Management from Upper Iowa University, he returned to Orlando to begin a career in the homebuilding industry. In 2006 Brent received his Certified General Contractors License from the state of Florida, which he used to assist him in successfully building thousands of homes across the greater Orlando area. In 2014 Brent earned his Law Degree from Florida State University. In addition to his law degree, he earned a certificate from the University of Oxford for his studies in International Law. After nearly 20 years within the homebuilding industry, Brent finally recognized his true calling and brought his years of experience to Morgan and Morgan in 2022. Brent's experience in leading teams as a Project Manager is key to his aggressive, and diligent representation of individuals who have been injured due to the negligence of others. Brent is also the father of two daughters and enjoys spending time with his family and friends, golfing, hunting, and bass fishing when he's not fighting hard for his clients.
