EDUCATION

University of Oklahoma

Charleston School of Law

Born and raised in the vibrant city of Norman, OK, Michael Anthony's journey into the legal field was first influenced by his Father's 40+ years practicing law. The discipline and work ethic his parents and 4 older siblings exemplified led him in their footsteps from Mount St. Mary Catholic High School, to The University of Oklahoma. He pursued his undergraduate degree in Criminology while at OU, delving into the study of societal structures and gaining insight into crime and justice systems.

After completing his undergraduate degree, Michael attended law school at Charleston School of Law, deepening his legal knowledge and connecting with the Low Country community. His passion for advocating for injured workers in South Carolina stems from ensuring they receive fair compensation and support post-workplace accidents. An avid golfer and fitness enthusiast, Michael also enjoys supporting Oklahoma Sooners Football and OKC Thunder basketball teams during his free time.

Now a member of Morgan & Morgan's Work Injury & Workers' Compensation Lawyers team, Michael brings his passion for justice and dedication to helping injured workers to the forefront. His experiences and interests shape his approach to legal advocacy, providing personalized and effective representation to clients in Charleston, SC, and beyond.
