EDUCATION

University of Florida - 2006

Florida Coastal School of Law -
2010

Jeremy Kriesel, a native of Gainesville, FL, has deep roots in the community. After graduating from Gainesville High School in 2001 and the University of Florida in 2006, he pursued his legal education at Florida Coastal School of Law, obtaining his law degree in 2010. Jeremy's early career saw him bartending at The Swamp Bar and Restaurant while attending college, gaining valuable experience in interpersonal skills.

Following law school, Jeremy started his legal career at Trilogi, Inc. in Lakeland, FL, before becoming a partner at Terry N. Silverman, P.A. in 2010. During his nearly 12-year tenure at the firm, Jeremy handled a wide range of legal matters, including personal injury cases from car accidents, premises liability, and medical malpractice. He also worked extensively in criminal defense and provided legal assistance to small businesses, including bars and restaurants. Now as part of Morgan & Morgan, Jeremy continues to provide dedicated legal representation to individuals in Gainesville and beyond, leveraging his extensive experience and commitment to serving his clients' best interests.
