St. Thomas University College of Law

Dylan Fleming, a proud native of Central Florida, has established himself as a legal professional with a strong academic background and a passion for serving his community. He obtained his bachelor's degree from the University of Central Florida, followed by a master's degree from the Florida Institute of Technology. His educational journey culminated in 2010 when he graduated with honors from St. Thomas University College of Law and was admitted to the Florida Bar that same year.

Upon entering the legal field, Mr. Fleming initially focused on personal injury and criminal law at Mitchell Law, P.A. Subsequently, he ventured into private practice, operating his own firm specializing in personal injury and criminal law for six years. In his current role at Morgan & Morgan, Mr. Fleming continues his dedicated service to clients in need of legal representation. Additionally, he shared his legal expertise as an adjunct professor at the University of Central Florida from 2014 to 2022, teaching courses on legal research and writing.

Beyond his professional commitments, Mr. Fleming enjoys indulging in his love for outdoor activities, particularly surfing and fishing along Florida's picturesque coastline. These pursuits not only offer relaxation and recreation but also reflect his deep connection to the natural beauty of the region he calls home. With a well-rounded approach to life and law, Mr. Fleming exemplifies dedication, expertise, and a genuine commitment to making a positive impact in both his legal practice and personal endeavors.
