EDUCATION

University of North Georgia, 2015

John Marshal Law School, 2022

Edward Hardrick brings a wealth of experience and a strong sense of service to his role as an attorney. Beginning his journey as a US Army Captain, Edward served for eight years and was recognized with the Bronze Star Medal for his contributions during his deployment in Afghanistan. His commitment to leadership was evident early on when he attended the University of North Georgia, where he not only pursued his education but also commissioned as an Army Officer upon graduation.

During his time in law school, Edward continued to display his leadership abilities as the Vice-President of the Student Bar Association and chair of the Moot Court team. His contributions to Law Review further showcased his dedication to legal excellence. Transitioning to his legal career, Edward joined Morgan & Morgan as a personal injury attorney, driven by his passion to advocate for the rights of injured individuals.

Outside of his professional endeavors, Edward finds fulfillment in spending time with family and friends, engaging in sports activities, and supporting teams like the Alabama Crimson Tide and Atlanta Falcons. His commitment to overcoming challenges and achieving success is evident both in his legal advocacy and his personal pursuits, making him a well-rounded individual dedicated to making a positive impact in various aspects of life.
