Mike Morgan has tremendous passion for helping individuals and families who feel powerless against large corporations.

Mike Morgan, a native Floridian, is a personal injury lawyer based in Orlando, Florida. As a personal injury lawyer, he specializes in such cases as medical malpractice, insurance bad faith, wrongful death, defective products, premises liability, professional accidents, injuries caused by auto accidents and other personal injury cases on behalf of the victims or their families.

Mr. Morgan has successfully represented thousands of clients in mediation, negotiation, arbitration and litigation. Mike, as well as the entire team at Morgan and Morgan, does not represent insurance companies or large corporations. Rather, he has helped recover millions on behalf of thousands of injured people.

How the product safety team works

As the head of product safety, which is a combination of practices such as mass tort, product liability and fire litigation groups, Mr. Morgan works with a team of highly experienced attorneys who've handled personal injury cases like yours. However, each case is handled individually as it is unique.

Injury victims normally suffer financial stress and emotional trauma after an accident. Mike seeks to level the playing field by representing individuals who do not have the same privileges or legal representation as to the corporations that injured them. Being aware of the financial burden that follows an accident, Morgan and Morgan adopts a contingency fee model. This implies that once you give us the go-ahead to handle your case, you will incur no upfront costs nor any hourly fees. You only pay us after we win your case.

With the vast resources at his disposal, Mr. Morgan goes out of his way to discover the circumstances and facts that surround your case. In his practice as a personal injury litigator, Mike has come across and had access to nationally recognized consultants and experts from diverse fields such as investigators, auto accident reconstruction experts and medical practitioners who will help build a strong case.

With the understanding that not everyone wants to sue, Mr. Morgan will in most cases recommend a suit only after other settlement possibilities have been explored.
