EDUCATION

Mercer University

Mercer University School of Law

JT Palmer was raised in Calhoun, Georgia, where he developed a strong sense of community and justice. His academic journey led him to Mercer University on a Football Scholarship, where he pursued his passion for Law & Public Policy, ultimately earning his Bachelors' Degree. Continuing his education at Mercer University School of Law, JT obtained his Juris Doctorate, laying the foundation for his legal career.

Starting as a defense attorney, JT gained valuable insights into legal strategies and courtroom dynamics. However, his true calling emerged when he shifted his focus to advocating for victims affected by the negligence of others. Leveraging his litigation experience and competitive spirit, JT is dedicated to ensuring that his clients receive the compensation they deserve for their injuries and losses. As part of Morgan & Morgan in Marietta, GA, JT Palmer's practice areas primarily center on Personal Injury claims and lawsuits. His commitment to justice, coupled with his legal expertise, makes him a formidable advocate for those seeking restitution and redress after suffering harm due to negligence.
