Mark Ringsmuth is a personal injury attorney in Morgan & Morgan's Irvine office. Mr. Ringsmuth has nearly twenty-five years of litigation experience. As a trial lawyer, he aggressively seeks justice for victims of catastrophic injuries and wrongful death in premises liability cases.

Before joining Morgan & Morgan, he worked for an insurance defense firm in Los Angeles, litigating a wide range of matters, including premises liability and automobile accidents. Mr. Ringsmuth brings the knowledge and experience he earned defending lawsuits to the fight against insurance companies and powerful corporations.

Mr. Ringsmuth earned an undergraduate degree from The University of Virginia. He continued his education at Pepperdine University School of Law. He is licensed to practice law in California and Florida.
