EDUCATION

University of South Florida

University of Miami School of Law

Stationed in our Tampa, FL office, Lawrence Rogers has carved a niche for himself in personal injury law, driven by an unwavering commitment to advocacy. His academic foundation in Economics and Health Sciences from the University of South Florida set the stage for his subsequent achievement of a Juris Doctor from the University of Miami School of Law.

Commencing his legal odyssey as an Assistant State Attorney in Tampa, Rogers showcased acute litigative acumen. His expertise further burgeoned at a premier real estate law firm, honing skills in complex civil litigation and residential dealings, making him an adaptable asset to diverse clientele.

Joining a prominent personal injury law firm in South Florida, marked a pivotal chapter in Rogers' career. Here, he fiercely advocated for clients in a myriad of cases, ranging from auto accidents to premises liability, solidifying his reputation as a steadfast champion for the underrepresented.

Away from the legal spotlight, Lawrence relishes travel adventures and values moments shared with family and friends. Committed to professional excellence and maintaining a genuine connection with his clients, Lawrence Rogers stands as a trusted advocate in the ever-evolving legal landscape.
