David McLendon joined Morgan & Morgan in 2024 as an Attorney in the firm's complex litigation department. He is licensed to practice law in Louisiana and several Federal District Courts. His practice area is primarily in multi-district litigation. Presently, Mr. McLendon is working with our Social Media Harm litigation team in the JCCP 5255 California state court cases with Judge Carolyn B. Kuhl presiding, and working the Social Media Harm parallel proceeding, MDL 3047, In re: Social Media Addiction, in the US District Court for the Northern District of California with Judge Yvonne Gonzalez Rogers.

Mr. McLendon has worked on some of the most significant multi-district litigation (MDL) in the nation, resulting in significant global settlements for the individual clients he and his firm represented. In over 15 years working with a nationally recognized mass tort firm, Mr. McLendon used his analytical and research skills to advance the mass litigations to successful trial outcomes or global settlements. Skills used included developing extensive deposition outlines, used in many successful depositions. Additional legal skills have included case analysis and strategy development, client communication and negotiation, legal technology proficiency, document reviews with outlining, deposition preparation, defending of plaintiff depositions, taking depositions of fact witnesses and corporate representatives, handling experts for reports, depositions and trial, handling witnesses for depositions and trial, and working on trial teams doing any task required to win.

Mass Tort litigation Mr McLendon has work on include:
MDL 1873 – In re FEMA Formaldehyde Trailers – EDLA – Judge Engelhardt
MDL 2179 – In re BP Oil Spill – EDLA – Judge Barbier
