EDUCATION

University of South Florida

University of Arkansas, Bowen School of Law, Magna Cum Laude

Kendall Shortway achieved magna cum laude honors upon graduating from The University of Arkansas at Little Rock School of Law in 2015. Her legal journey began with a notable five-year tenure at a nationwide insurance defense firm, where she specialized in defending large corporations and insurance companies against a wide array of personal injury claims. Her practice encompassed areas such as general liability, auto and trucking claims, premises liability, and negligent security matters.

After gaining extensive experience representing corporate entities, Ms. Shortway transitioned to Morgan & Morgan, where she now dedicates her legal expertise to exclusively advocating for individuals and families who have suffered injuries due to the negligence of others. This shift reflects her commitment to using her in-depth knowledge of defense strategies to effectively represent the rights and interests of injury victims.

Ms. Shortway's legal prowess extends across multiple jurisdictions, as she is licensed to practice law in Georgia, Florida, and the U.S. Virgin Islands. Her recent wins, including notable settlements of $2,670,000, $800,000, $728,000, and more, underscore her proficiency and dedication to securing favorable outcomes for her clients.
