Christopher J. Havatian's legal journey has been deeply rooted in his upbringing in New Jersey, where he obtained his Bachelor's Degree from Montclair State University and later earned his Juris Doctorate from Rutgers Law School. He further enhanced his legal expertise by serving as a Law Clerk for the Essex County Superior Court, gaining valuable insights into the workings of the judicial system.

Throughout his legal career, Christopher has been dedicated to seeking justice for victims who have suffered severe injuries due to car crashes, truck wrecks, and vehicle crashes involving pedestrians. His focus on personal injury law encompasses a wide range of cases, including those involving spinal cord injuries, traumatic brain injuries, and other serious harms resulting from accidents. Licensed to practice in both New York and New Jersey, Christopher stands ready to advocate fiercely on behalf of victims and fight for their rights to fair compensation.

Recent victories in cases such as Falco v. Bengard, where he secured a $250,000 result in a car crash injury case, highlight Christopher's ability to achieve favorable outcomes for his clients. His dedication to personal injury law, coupled with his educational background and courtroom experience, positions him as a reliable and compassionate advocate for individuals facing the aftermath of life-altering accidents. Christopher's presence in Jersey City, NJ, serves as a testament to his commitment to serving the local community and providing top-notch legal representation to those in need.
