Attorney Katrina A. Hudson is a dedicated personal injury attorney in the St. Louis office, committed to helping individuals and families secure justice and compensation after life-altering accidents. Katrina brings years of experience representing government, corporate, and individual clients on a diverse range of matters, specializing in civil litigation. Katrina understands the challenges clients face in the aftermath of personal injuries and is focused on providing compassionate, results-driven representation. Known for building strong client relationships, Katrina advocates tirelessly for clients, and she brings extensive experience in handling complex claims.

Katrina earned her Bachelor of Arts in Global Studies from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. She then went on to receive her Juris Doctorate from Saint Louis University and is licensed to practice in Missouri. She is passionate about guiding clients through challenging times, striving to make a positive impact and achieve the resolution they deserve.

Outside of being an attorney, Katrina is the proud mother of two sons, who she credits as her “why.”
