Alex Iglesias is a sixth-generation Tampa native. He pursued his undergraduate degree at the University of South Florida and braved the wild Midwest winters to earn his law degree from the University of Wyoming College of Law in Laramie, WY.

Before joining Morgan & Morgan, Alex gained valuable experience working at the Public Defender's office, where he developed a keen ability to handle complex legal challenges under pressure and champion the rights of those often overlooked by the justice system. His passion for justice is deeply personal, stemming in part from his family history; his father's family escaped communism in Cuba in 1962, seeking freedom and opportunity in the United States.

At Morgan & Morgan, Alex applies his local knowledge and legal expertise to assist those injured due to the negligence of others. Beyond his professional endeavors, Alex is deeply involved in his community as a volunteer and volunteer lead at Metropolitan Ministries, where he dedicates his time to helping those in need.
