Adriana A. McDonald is an attorney in our Lakeland office, specializing in personal auto injury litigation. Since joining the firm Adriana has leveraged her extensive experience as a Litigation and Trial Paralegal to provide comprehensive legal representation. Her diverse background includes handling cases in personal injury, premises liability, workers' compensation, and Social Security Disability claims.

Adriana earned her law degree while working alongside a managing partner with a demanding trial schedule, a testament to her exceptional work ethic and commitment to the legal field. During law school, she earned Dean's List honors and served as Vice Magister of the Phi Delta Phi law fraternity, further highlighting her leadership and academic excellence.
Originally from the former Yugoslavia, Adriana is fluent in her native language, allowing her to serve a broader client base with empathy and understanding. Her multicultural background enriches her perspective and enhances her ability to connect with clients from diverse backgrounds.

Adriana's approach to law is defined by her commitment to providing knowledgeable and compassionate representation. She strives to ensure her clients feel supported and well-informed throughout their legal journey.

Outside of her legal practice, Adriana enjoys time with her family, traveling, and relaxing at the beach. Her well-rounded life brings balance to her practice, enhancing her ability to relate to her clients and advocate effectively on their behalf.
