EDUCATION

Boston College

Atlanta John Marshall Law School

Christle L. Guinyard is a dedicated personal injury trial attorney committed to advocating for those who have been injured. She earned her undergraduate degree in Sociology from Boston College, where she developed a deep understanding of social systems and the challenges individuals face. Inspired to make a difference, she pursued her Juris Doctorate at Atlanta's John Marshall Law School, setting the foundation for her career in law.

After being admitted to the Georgia State Bar and the Northern District of Georgia, Christle focused her practice on personal injury law, specializing in cases involving motor vehicle collisions. Her passion for justice and advocacy drives her to fight tirelessly for her clients, ensuring they receive the compensation they deserve. She takes pride in guiding individuals through difficult times and making the legal process as smooth as possible.

Christle enjoys spending quality time with her husband and their two children outside of her legal practice. Whether at work or home, she is dedicated to helping others and positively impacting her community. Her compassionate approach and strong legal skills make her a trusted client advocate.
