EDUCATION

Florida State University- 2013

Barry University School of Law- 2017

John V. Scatuorchio is a trial attorney in Morgan & Morgan's Downtown Orlando office. Mr. Scatuorchio represents clients for personal injuries sustained as a result of someone else's negligence.

Mr. Scatuorchio is a multi-generational Floridian born in Vero Beach, Florida. He is a graduate from the Florida State University and attended Barry Law School on scholarship. Mr. Scatuorchio has continued his support for academics by guest lecturing at the University of Central Florida in the field of legal studies and lawyer preparedness.

Before joining Morgan & Morgan, Mr. Scatuorchio was trial counsel at a prominent local law firm specializing in Criminal Defense, Family Law and Personal Injury. It was here that he honed his skills of negotiation, litigation, and his zealous style of advocacy.

Since transitioning to Morgan & Morgan, Mr. Scatuorchio focuses his practice on personal injury and civil trial litigation. Mr. Scatuorchio treats every case with the highest level of attention and care. He does this as many of his clients are going through some of the most traumatic events of their lives. When Mr. Scatuorchio takes on the role as lawyer for a client, he listens to his client's needs and works tirelessly to ensure they receive the maximum amount of money available.
