Robert Black is a dedicated litigation attorney at Morgan & Morgan, focusing his practice on serious personal injury and wrongful death cases. Licensed to practice law since 2012, Robert brings over a decade of experience advocating for those who have suffered life-altering injuries or losses. After establishing his legal career in New Jersey and Federal District Court, he moved to Arizona in 2022, where he continues his mission of delivering justice to individuals and families during their most difficult times.

Robert earned his Bachelor's degree in Political Science from Seton Hall University in 2009 and his Juris Doctor from the Maurice A. Deane School of Law at Hofstra University in 2011. Since then, he has built a reputation for securing results, including multiple seven-figure settlements on behalf of clients in cases against both corporate and non-corporate defendants. Throughout his career, Robert has consistently been recognized as a top producer—driven by a strong belief in his clients and a relentless work ethic.

Known for his empathy, practical insight, and ability to solve complex legal problems, Robert takes pride in providing not only strategic legal guidance but also meaningful personal support. Clients often remark on how heard, understood, and empowered they feel throughout the legal process—something Robert considers one of the most important parts of his role.
