EDUCATION

California State University, Northridge, 2013

Loyola Law School, Los Angeles, 2019

Stefon Jackson's journey began in the San Fernando Valley, where he developed a strong academic foundation before launching into a career of service. He attended California State University, Northridge, earning a bachelor's degree in Political Science. Following his undergraduate studies, Stefon felt a calling to serve his country and enlisted in the United States Army. This pivotal chapter in his life instilled in him the core values of loyalty, duty, respect, honor, and integrity that continue to guide his professional and personal life today.

After completing his military service, Stefon transitioned into the legal field by attending Loyola Law School in Los Angeles. He initially gained extensive experience in the courtroom and behind the scenes by defending complex insurance cases. This period provided him with an invaluable perspective on how the opposition operates, which he now utilizes to champion the rights of others. Today, Stefon specializes in complex personal injury litigation, shifting his focus to ensure that accident victims receive the dedicated support and fair compensation they deserve.

Throughout his successful career, Stefon has established a reputation for excellence through his skill in negotiating settlements and arguing motions. He is deeply committed to maintaining clear and effective communication with those he represents, ensuring they feel supported at every step of the legal process. From taking depositions to securing favorable outcomes, Stefon's ultimate goal remains steadfast. He thrives on the opportunity to advocate for his clients and consistently seeks the best possible results for every individual he serves.
