EDUCATION

College: Xavier University, 2016

Law School: Notre Dame, 2021

A proud Midwesterner and graduate of Notre Dame Law School, Mark specializes in auto collision cases. Mark has always believed that a lawyer is a servant above all else, and he takes the firm's motto "For the people" very seriously.

Before coming to Morgan & Morgan, Mark was awarded a public interest law fellowship through the national collaborative Gideon's Promise, which trains lawyers in the art of public defense. As a Gideon's Promise Fellow, Mark served his community by representing both adults and children charged with crimes. During that time, Mark tried more than 70 cases, winning acquittals in the overwhelming majority of them.

Though not an Ohio native, Mark has lived and worked in Cincinnati for more than 10 years. He graduated summa cum laude from Xavier University where he was recognized with the Governor John J. Gilligan Award for his commitment to public service. Mark is also a member of both the Phi Beta Kappa and Alpha Sigma Nu honors societies.

Outside of work, Mark enjoys spending time with his family and coaching Xavier University's undergraduate mock trial team. He also likes to listen to National Public Radio, complete the New York Times crossword, and think about obscure anagrams.
