EDUCATION

University of Michigan

University of Illinois College of Law

Eva Kluting's academic journey began at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, where she demonstrated an exceptional commitment to excellence. She graduated with High Distinction, placing her in the top 10% of her class, and received University Honors during every semester of her attendance. While earning her degree in Biopsychology, Cognition, and Neuroscience, Eva gained practical, hands-on experience in the healthcare field by working as a nursing technician at a local hospital. This background provided her with a unique perspective on patient care and human biology before she moved on to pursue her legal education at the University of Illinois College of Law as a Dean's Scholar.

Now a versatile and highly qualified advocate, Eva is licensed to practice law in Colorado, New York, and Florida. She currently serves as a Pre-Suit Attorney at the Morgan & Morgan office in Orlando, where she specializes in both Product Liability and Fire Injury cases. Her extensive scientific background and her experience in the medical field allow her to approach complex injury claims with a sophisticated level of insight and empathy. Eva is dedicated to helping her clients navigate the early stages of their legal journey, ensuring they receive the strategic advocacy and support necessary to find a path toward recovery and justice.
