EDUCATION

Augustana College (2019)

Saint Louis University School of Law (2023)

Dolly Suresh began her academic journey at Augustana College, where she earned her undergraduate degree in Biology in 2019. Driven by a passion for advocacy and helping others, she then attended the Saint Louis University School of Law to pursue her legal education, graduating with her Juris Doctor in 2023 with a concentration in Health Law. Upon graduating, Dolly knew she wanted to be in a space that intersects both the medical and legal systems. Immediately after law school, Dolly entered the civil litigation arena as an associate attorney, gaining valuable experience analyzing medical malpractice insurance defense and personal injury matters right out of the gate. She soon expanded her courtroom skills as an associate trial attorney, working directly with injured clients and navigating the fast-paced demands of the courtroom. Continuing to broaden her expertise, she later stepped into a specialized role managing complex bankruptcy and trust matters, specifically advocating for individuals and families dealing with severe illnesses like mesothelioma and lung cancer.

Today, Dolly brings a diverse background and empathetic advocacy to the Morgan & Morgan team at the Saint Louis office. As a dedicated personal injury attorney, she focuses her practice on representing individuals who have been injured in car accidents. Dolly utilizes her unique combination of personal injury experience and deep compassion to guide her clients through the complex legal and insurance systems, ensuring they feel supported every step of the way. Known for her friendly, approachable demeanor and tireless work ethic, she is fully committed to standing up against powerful entities to secure the meaningful recovery and justice that her clients deserve.
