EDUCATION

Florida International University, Political Science Major, 1997

Nova Southeastern University, Juris Doctor, 2001

Orlando R. Murillo has devoted the majority of his legal career to representing injured workers and individuals throughout Florida in workers' compensation and personal injury matters. Since being admitted to the Florida Bar in 2001, he has handled thousands of claims through all stages of litigation, including trial, and has developed extensive experience navigating complex legal and medical issues on behalf of his clients.

Prior to focusing his practice on workers' compensation and personal injury litigation, Mr. Murillo practiced in the areas of criminal and family law, providing him with a broad litigation background and substantial courtroom experience. He is known for his practical, client-focused approach and his ability to develop effective legal strategies tailored to the specific circumstances of each case.

Mr. Murillo is a member of the Workers' Compensation Section of the Florida Bar and Florida Workers' Advocates, an organization dedicated to protecting the rights of injured workers throughout the State of Florida. He earned his bachelor's degree in Political Science from Florida International University in 1997 and received his Juris Doctor from Nova Southeastern University Shepard Broad College of Law in 2001. Mr. Murillo is fluent in Spanish and maintains strong ties to the local community.
