EDUCATION

Auburn University (2005)

University of Alabama School of Law (2008)

Trey Hawthorne was born and raised in Birmingham, Alabama, where he grew up with a strong connection to his local community. After completing high school, he attended Auburn University to pursue his undergraduate studies, successfully earning a degree in Finance in 2005. His academic dedication and sharp analytical skills earned him a full academic scholarship to the University of Alabama School of Law. He excelled during his time in law school and graduated with his Juris Doctor in 2008, establishing a stellar legal foundation that prepared him for a rigorous career in the courtroom.

Following his admission to the bar, Trey spent twelve years building an extensive civil litigation practice, eventually rising to the level of partner at a defense firm in Birmingham. During this formative period, he focused heavily on representing insurance companies and their insureds in personal injury lawsuits across the state. He also maintained a highly active trucking practice representing drivers and transportation companies, defended contractors in complex construction defect litigation, and protected telecommunications companies against infrastructure installation claims. This diverse experience allowed Trey to handle and try numerous cases in both state and federal courts throughout Alabama, giving him an invaluable, inside understanding of how the defense evaluates and fights lawsuits.

Today, Trey brings his vast litigation background and strategic defense insights to his practice, utilizing his skills to provide top-tier advocacy for individuals and families navigating the legal system. Known for his warm and friendly demeanor, he is deeply committed to helping his clients achieve meaningful outcomes during challenging times. Outside of his legal career, Trey enjoys a vibrant family life and resides in Trussville with his wife, Jennifer, his daughter, and his two stepdaughters, cherishing the time they spend together in their local community.
