JD - Barry University 2025

Erick J. Adames-Ramirez is an attorney at Morgan & Morgan's Orlando office, where he focuses on personal injury and medical malpractice cases. Born in the Dominican Republic and raised in the Bronx and Miami, Erick developed a strong work ethic, resilience, and adaptability early on. He is fluent in English and Spanish and is committed to advancing justice, protecting rights, and serving his community.

Erick earned his Bachelor of Science in Sociology, with a minor in Criminology, from Florida State University, where he became the first person in his family to attend and graduate from college. Following his undergraduate studies, he pursued his legal education at Barry University School of Law, earning his Juris Doctor in 2025. During law school, Erick sharpened his legal reasoning skills and further developed his passion for advocating on behalf of individuals injured due to the negligence of others, particularly those navigating the aftermath of serious accidents.

Now at Morgan & Morgan, Erick brings discipline, determination, and a client-first mindset to every case he handles. He is dedicated to guiding his clients through challenging circumstances and helping them recover the compensation they deserve.
