EDUCATION

University of Detroit Mercy Law School (J.D., 2018)

University of Detroit Mercy (B.A., Summa Cum Laude, 2014)

Jason M. Beavers studied Political Science at UofD Mercy before earning his J.D. from UofD Mercy Law School. During his first year of Law School, Jason was awarded a “Pass with Distinction” for his oral advocacy skills demonstrated in the G. Mennen Williams Moot Court Competition. Jason went on to join the Moot Court team in his second year of Law School, in addition to serving as V.P. of the 10 C.O.R.E. Law Society, providing housing literacy and access to resources for the underprivileged.

Jason’s roots in the legal field began at a small personal injury firm in Pleasant Ridge where he clerked for the first two years of law school. During his third year, Jason participated in the Housing Law Clinic where he assisted tenants in arrearage and inhabitability matters. Following law school, Jason worked on a multitude of personal injury cases at a renowned firm, which included auto negligence, medical malpractice, premises liability, civil rights, and others. Jason joined Morgan & Morgan with five years of Insurance Defense experience, bringing a wealth of knowledge from the opposite side of the “v” and what is sought after for claim valuation. Jason spent the greater part of those five years in AmLaw representing nationwide insurers and commercial carriers in matters involving premises liability, Michigan No-Fault, third-party negligence, subrogation, and provider suits.

Jason has wanted to be a lawyer for as long as he can remember. As a native Detroiter, Jason learned that in order to fight the status quo, he would have to immerse himself in the field of law. In his legal career, Jason hopes to create greater access to justice in all areas of law for those less fortunate. In his spare time, Jason enjoys all things automotive, riding his motorcycle, and spending time with family and friends.
