EDUCATION

Pennsylvania State University

Drexel University's Thomas R. Kline School of Law

Richard Berger is a trial attorney based in Philadelphia focused on representing victims of nursing home abuse, neglect, and wrongful death. His practice is dedicated to advocating for elderly and vulnerable individuals and helping families navigate some of the most difficult circumstances they may ever face.

Prior to joining Morgan & Morgan, Richard gained extensive experience litigating complex civil matters, including nursing home and healthcare-related claims. This experience provided him with a comprehensive understanding of how these cases are evaluated, defended, and tried. His background also includes several years in the insurance industry, giving him a unique perspective on risk assessment, claims handling, and dispute resolution.

Richard is committed to holding negligent individuals and institutions accountable while pursuing meaningful results for his clients through strategic advocacy, negotiation, and trial work.
