EDUCATION

Suffolk University 2015-2018

University of Maine School of Law 2018-2021

Jamie Blair was born and raised in Halifax, Nova Scotia, moving to the United States right after high school as a proud dual citizen. He began his higher education at Suffolk University from 2015 to 2018, where he graduated with honors in both English and Political Science and was recognized as a Geno A. Ballotti Scholar. Driven by an early ambition to advocate inside the courtroom, Jamie went on to attend the University of Maine School of Law from 2018 to 2021. Throughout his legal studies, his classmates consistently looked to him for leadership, electing him to the Student Bar Association each year of law school.

Upon entering practice, Jamie stepped directly into high volume trial work, building a versatile litigation background across divorce proceedings, criminal defense, and civil disputes. Spending eight to ten court appearances every week on his feet, he developed sharp instincts, quick courtroom adaptability, and a genuine passion for trial advocacy. Jamie quickly realized that aside from a hockey rink, there is nowhere he feels more at home than inside a courtroom fighting for the outcome his clients need.

Today, Jamie brings that extensive courtroom experience, energy, and dedication to the Morgan & Morgan office in Mobile, Alabama, where he focuses his practice on car accident, motorcycle crash, personal injury, and wrongful death cases. Known for his warm and approachable style, Jamie takes the time to listen closely to every client, guiding them through stressful times and fighting diligently to secure the full recovery they deserve. Outside of the office and the courtroom, Jamie cherishes his downtime heading to the beach with his wife and young daughter.
