Kevin Corrigan built his educational foundation in Northern California at the University of San Francisco, earning his degree from the School of Business in 2014. Eager to channel his business acumen into courtroom advocacy, he continued his studies at the University of San Francisco School of Law, where he earned his Juris Doctor in 2018. Following graduation, Kevin gained admission to the State Bar of California, launching his career with a strong dedication to serving his community and mastering the intricacies of civil litigation.

Today, Kevin brings his background and advocacy skills to the Morgan & Morgan team at the Irvine office, focusing his practice on representing individuals injured in car accidents. Known for his approachable personality and attentive client communication, Kevin understands the stress, uncertainty, and physical challenges that follow a serious collision. He takes immense pride in standing up for everyday people, guiding them through each step of the recovery process while fighting diligently against insurance companies to ensure his clients receive the justice and full compensation they deserve.
