Law School: William and Mary Law School 2025

Anthony Vokan began his academic career at Fordham University, where he graduated with a Bachelor of Arts in History and Economics before pursuing his legal education at William & Mary Law School. Throughout law school, Anthony dedicated himself to public advocacy and assisting individuals navigating complex legal systems. He served as an extern with the Innocence Project Clinic, investigating claims and fighting to overturn wrongful convictions. Anthony further broadened his practical advocacy during law school summers, providing pro bono legal services to indigent clients through the Center for Legal Aid and Regional Development in Kosovo and gaining courtroom exposure with the Hampton Commonwealth Attorney's Office.

Following graduation, Anthony honed his procedural and trial perspective by serving as a judicial law clerk for the 23rd Judicial Circuit in Roanoke, Virginia. Working closely alongside judges on active trial dockets allowed him to sharpen his legal research, analyze intricate judicial opinions, and master courtroom trial strategy from the bench's perspective. This formative clerkship deepened his understanding of civil procedure and reinforced the importance of thorough, persuasive written advocacy in achieving favorable courtroom outcomes.

Today, Anthony channels that versatile foundation into his practice with the Morgan & Morgan team, dedicating his daily work to fighting for everyday people and standing up for the little guy. Approachable, dependable, and fiercely driven, he prioritizes the needs of his clients from day one, taking the time to listen to their stories and provide steady guidance through every stage of their case. Anthony approaches each dispute with relentless preparation and a sharp strategic focus, consistently pushing to secure the maximum value and the meaningful recovery his clients deserve.
