Ray Sotomayor is currently serving as an intake attorney in the firm's Personal Injury Practice. His extensive experience in personal injury litigation in both Florida and New York over the past 3 decades helps clients feel more assured and protected throughout the initial injury claims process.

Mr. Sotomayor has represented injured clients in a multitude of automobile accident cases, premises liability, and wrongful death matters. Prior to joining Morgan & Morgan, Ray served as an assistant district attorney in New York and Florida at the felony level and has also litigated civil matters for two large multi-national insurance companies as in-house counsel. Ray soon realized that his true passion was in helping injured individuals navigate traumatic episodes in their lives which unfortunately happen from time to time. He is fueled by giving a voice to those who have suffered due to the negligence of others. Ray has tried cases in Florida and New York for over three decades as a plaintiff attorney and continues to collaborate closely with his clients in order to foster complete and open communication. He considers it an honor to represent the injured and is tireless in his pursuit to earn that trust, every day.

Mr. Sotomayor graduated from Cornell University with a B.S. in Physiology. He then completed his J.D. at Hofstra University School of Law.

In his spare time, Ray often enjoys hiking with his dogs, backpacking, bicycle and motorcycle touring, and kayaking.
