EDUCATION

University of Central Florida - 2015-2017

Barry University School of Law 2019-2022

Victor Fontanez began his legal career with a strong commitment to public service and protecting the rights of everyday individuals. Following his admission to The Florida Bar, he stepped directly into courtroom litigation by representing clients through the Public Defender's Office in Orlando, where he handled a busy docket of misdemeanor criminal cases. Standing up for individuals whose futures and liberties were on the line provided him with hands on trial experience, sharpening his ability to analyze complex legal issues, build persuasive arguments, and remain composed under courtroom pressure.

Alongside his civilian legal practice, Victor also serves his country as a Judge Advocate in the United States Army. Balancing his duties as both an Army officer and an attorney has deeply shaped his character and legal approach, instilling the highest standards of discipline, sound judgment, and accountability. Navigating intricate legal and operational matters within the military reinforced his dedication to service and equipped him with a calm, steady perspective when guiding people through stressful situations.

Over the course of his career, Victor has developed a client centered philosophy built on the belief that great representation requires far more than simply knowing the law. He approaches every file with thorough preparation, persistence, and genuine compassion, always keeping in mind that behind every case is a real person whose daily life has been disrupted by someone else's actions. Taking the time to listen closely to his clients ensures they feel heard, supported, and respected from start to finish.

Today, Victor brings that versatile courtroom background, military discipline, and heartfelt advocacy to the Morgan & Morgan team, focusing his practice on premises liability litigation. Proud to uphold the mission of fighting for the people, not the powerful, he works diligently to hold negligent property owners accountable when preventable injuries occur. Victor takes immense pride in standing in his clients' corner and fighting tirelessly to secure the justice and recovery they deserve.
